Access control training

Critical to the success of any access control solution is the transfer of skills and knowledge, so you are able to reap the full benefit of your investment.

To this end our training division provides an extensive range of accredited training in all aspects of access control.

Paced learning

Our training courses consist of a number of modules that are outcomes driven, so delegates are able to proceed at their own pace.

The training also comprises both lecture and practical aspects, to ensure a complete understanding of the topic.

Certification

At the end of all training there is an assessment and/or an examination, to ensure competency and certification.

In addition, should you have specific topics or areas of training required, we are able to develop specialised courses to meet your needs.

Onsite or at our training centres

All training is offered on site at your premises, or at one of our fully equipped training centres in South Africa.
